- Some titles are available to download from Overdrive as either an Ebook or Audiobook.
- If you need help, call or email the Library and staff can help place the hold. We will call, email or text you when the hold becomes available.

ARE KIDS TOO YOUNG TO TALK ABOUT RACE?

0-1 year

At birth babies look equally at faces of all races. At 3 months, babies look more at face that match the race of their caregivers.

2 years

Children as young as 2 use race to reason about people's behavior.

2-5 years

By 30 months, most children use race to choose playmates.

4-5 years

Expressions of racial prejudice often peak at ages 4 and 5.

5 years

Black and Latinx children in research settings show no preference toward their own groups, as compared to white children at this age, who are more likely to be strongly biased in favor of whiteness.

5 years

By Kindergarten, children show many of the same racial attitudes held by adults in our culture. They have already learned to associate some groups with higher status than others.

5-7 years

Explicit conversations with 5-7 year old about interracial friendship can dramatically improve their racial attitudes in as little as a single week.
